Business

Louis Bloomberg, of 1118 East state st., widely known Salem business man, died at the Central Clinic hospital at 9:30 a. m. today.

Bloomberg, in business in Salem for more than 27 years, had been ill for three months. Complications ruled his death.

Associated with a relative in the operation of a store in Orrville, Bloomberg came to Salem in 1907 and with his brother, Joseph, organized what was known as the L. & J.
Bloomberg company store here, a real clothing establishment.

The store has been in its present location, 420 East State st., for the last 24 years.

Bloomberg was active in varied one affairs here and for a time served as president of the Salem Business Bureau.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs.
Katherine Bloomberg, three brothers and three sisters.

Complete arrangements for the funeral, which will probably be held Friday, have not been announced.

Pastors Elect Rev. R. D.
Walter Clerk At Lec-tonia Meet

Rev. R. D. Walter, pastor of the Salem Presbyterian church, was elected moderator of the Ohio synod meeting at a meeting of Mahoning Presbytery in session Tuesday at the Lectionia church. The Presbytery is comprised of parts of Mahoning, Columbiana, Stark and Trumbull counties.

Dr. J. W. Benn, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Canon, was elected moderator for one year. He succeeds Rev. J. V.
Supina, Alliance.

Rev. C. B. Gibson, student supply at the Lectionia church, was elected for ordination, and the ordination ceremonies will be held in the near future.

L. Frank Smith, Salem, was elected a delegate to the Ohio synod meeting at Wooster, June 18-21.
Smith was also named on the pension committee of the Presbytery.

Rev. George E. Brown, who has been pastor of the Ellsworth church for six years, has accepted a call to the church at Vienna, O., and will be installed in May.

Rev. Walter and other ministers from the Presbytery expect to attend the general assembly meeting which opens May 24 at Cleveland.

The "we can" plan for raising funds in the synod of Ohio brought in $700, it was reported.

Girl, 9, Astonishes Teachers

Joanne Xenos, 9-year-old Chicago prodigy, is shown here as she readily worked this multiplication problem given her by Dr. Charles A. Stone, head of the laboratory school at the University of Chicago, and Dr. William B. Murphy (right), chairman of the department of education at De Paul University. Joanne finished grade school in less than three years and is now in first year high school. She astonished a jury of teachers and educators to whom she demonstrated her ability at De Paul.

ASSAILANT ALSO SHOT; IN HOSPITAL
Opens Fight When He Is Cornered With Two Girls

CANTON, O., April 18.—A first degree murder charge was filed here today against Frank Edwin Miller, 28, who shot and killed Detective Albert Bush, 41, here yesterday.

Miller, missing secretary of the Akron Taxi Drivers' union, who is charged with stealing $245 of the union's funds, is in serious condition at Mercy hospital but is expected to live. He was shot four times by Detective Stephen Skot-nicky who went with Bush to a rooming house to question Miller and two girls, who are being held by police.

The charge was filed by Coroner
T. C. McQuate.

Feared Something Else
Police believe Miller feared something other than embezzlement and robbery charges. They have learned from his girl companions that he financed a trip to California with money obtained in filting station and drug-store hold-ups between Akron and Long Beach, Calif.

The girls, Marie Schorrey, 17, and Mildred Barnes, 19, both of Akron, maintain there was no shooting in any of the holdups.
Charges of highway robbery have been preferred against the girls at Akron and they will be returned there when released by local police.

Bush and Skotnicky went to the rooming house to investigate suspicious actions of the trio. While Skotnicky was questioning Miller, Bush was talking to the girls in another room.

Bush then went back to where Miller was lying in bed. Miller drew a 45 caliber automatic pistol from under his pillow and ordered the two detectives to get down on the floor.

Skotnicky knelt at the foot of the bed and as he lowered himself he drew his gun. Bush was in the act of kneeling when Miller opened fire on him. Simultaneously Skotnicky began firing and emptied his gun.

Narrowly Escapes Death
Skotnicky rolled under the bed to reload his gun. Miller, wounded by Skotnicky's first fire, wriggled his way to the foot of the bed, popped his gun against Skotnicky's head and pulled the trigger. The hammer clicked on an empty clip Skotnicky then struck Miller over the head and summoned aid.

The one girl, Mildred Barnes, said her home was at 2309 Warwood ave., Weeling W. Va., and that she left there in September and went to Akron where she met Marie Scarberry.

She said Miller stole the union money in February and that the trio, accompanied by James Fach, Miller's half brother, went to California. She said they started back a week ago and arrived in Akron early Sunday where they robbed the Stein Drug Co., on Waterloo rd. of $215. They then drove to Canton.

Court House Work
Near Completion
The county court house at Lec-tonia will be ready for occupation by county officials on or about Sept. 15, John Ogden, superintendent in charge of the project, said today.

Full crews of from 60 to 75 skilled and unskilled workers are being employed on eight-hour shifts.
Remodeling of the interior of the structure will be completed by Sept. 15, Ogden said, while it is possible that work on outside construction will be 90 per cent finished by that date.

Effective today, two eight-hour shifts of 18 men each were put to work pouring concrete at the Guilford lake dam. This project completing officials estimate, will be completed in 20 days.

COUNCIL REJECTS SEWER RENTAL
PLAN; THINKS RATE IS TOO HIGH

Solons Demand Water Main
Project Be Pushed Ahead
Of Power Plant Building

One Lawmaker Raps Administration; Declares Plan's Being Blocked; Charges Are Denied
By Engineer

Councilman attacks against the "administration," with no names mentioned, however, flared anew Tuesday night as members of the law-making body accused the administration of "blocking" the North Elsworth ave. water main extension project and focusing attentions on the proposed construction of an addition at the waterworks plant to house new electric power equipment.

Three councilmen took definite stands against further fund appropriations for the waterworks venture until the North Elsworth project is completed and approved a motion calling on the mayor's administration to communicate with FERA officials at Columbus, requesting that the latter job be undertaken before the waterworks job is released.

The new controversy broke out as Councilman Joseph Calladine, one of the leaders in the fight against Mayor Phillips in previous debates involving the mayor's economy program and his part-time occupancy of his office, hurled questions at City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff regarding old CWA projects and the status of the waterworks and North Elsworth ventures under the new Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

Calladine expressed his opinion that before the waterworks project could be completed, even though it be released by the FERA, city council would be forced to appropriate an additional $1,200. Taking a direct stand against such an appropriation, he directed his accusations at the administration.

He said that under the CWA the city would have been forced to expend only $2,000 for the completion of the waterworks job. However, under the FERA, some of the money the CWA would have provided will not be available from the state for materials — this amounts to approximately $1,200 — and this cost must be borne by the city. An appropriation for this amount must be made by council before the project could be legally completed.

Councilmen Samuel Kraus and Paul Asty supported Calladine's views.

However, engineer Barkhoff explained that he had been given to understand by members of the lighting committee that they would support the $1,200 appropriation and went on to explain that he presented the North Elsworth ave.
project to FERA officials on his recent trip to Columbus along with the waterworks proposal.

Councilmen Barkhoff said, had pledged this support at a committee session with the engineer several weeks ago.

"Whether Columbus ever releases the Elsworth job is one thing and whether the waterworks project is ever released is another," the engineer explained. "As far as I am concerned I have only been asked to do what I can to push local projects. I've done that. I've never taken sides for or against any project."

"Both jobs are now on file with the FERA. We don't know which will be released."

Calladine responded with the question: "Yes, but isn't it a fact that the project pushed the hardest will be the one to be released?"

Then before the engineer had time to reply, he continued: "The Elsworth project has been blocked all the way while the other job is being pushed ahead all the time."

Finally being recognized by the chair, Barkhoff attempted to continue as he remarked that "never to my knowledge has either project been 'pushed' or 'favored' when Calladine again interrupted him.

"I don't say it was through you but we all know that the administration—"

Project Never Blocked
Here the engineer broke into Cal-ladine's remarks and asserted that "never in any way, to my knowledge, was the project on North Elsworth blocked by anyone."

As both began to speak together the chair rapped for order and Calladine was given the floor. A short time later Calladine submitted his motion requesting the administration to write to FERA headquarters at Columbus to request that the North Elsworth project be released ahead of the waterworks job.

Asty seconded the motion. He said: "I am in favor of the waterworks project. It is a big project and it will give us a big waterworks plant. It will give us a big

HOMES AND HOUSES

Housing is a factor that must be regarded as highly important in the welfare of a community, regardless of whether it's Salem with its 11,000 or more inhabitants or one of the metropolises.Good housing is more essential to the development of the smaller city, undoubtedly, than to the larger.Quite frequently, the housing facilities of a city form the basis upon which the individual is apt to judge the city as a whole, whether rightly or wrongly.
Consult with an honest, thrifty housewife after she has spent a day looking for a suitable home for her family. Her views on homes and housing are often illuminating and emphatic.It is entirely possible she may be able to find a house. But frequently a house, and a dwelling that can be made a home, are two vastly different quantities.Today in Salem there are 101 empty houses. The count was made in a recently completed survey. This provides a sharp contrast with the figure of a year ago. Then there were somewhat more than 200 empty houses.However, it is doubtful whether some of the 101 empty houses could be truthfully classified as home possibilities. In most cases they are in need of repairs, remodeling and reconstruction.Real estate owners may grumble as they pay taxes on such structures. It is hard for them to obtain good renters, that is, occupants who pay their rent regularly every month and who cooperate with their landlord in taking care of the property.These landlords might consider the possibility of devoting a little attention and some money to their properties. Money properly spent in a sound remodeling program at the present time would be profitably invested money.There is a demand today in Salem for good, comfortable houses with modern conveniences. Some requests have come from people now living out of town who are looking for residences here.The demand is not the reckless demand of a few years ago when people seemed able to pay almost any kind of fancy price that was asked in the way of rent and took whatever they could get.The average individual, it seems, has learned values in the last few years in the way of paying rent as in other things. But he is working again, he wants a good home and is willing to pay a fair price for it.There is actually a housing shortage in Salem today, even with so many vacant properties.

Why not make homes out of these 101 houses?

FORGOTTEN

In a surprising statement Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, has informed the United States that he makes no provision for Great Britain's debt in the new budget. It was predicted in advance of his budget message that another token payment would be made on the June installment of the debt.To Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer of the United States this means simply that Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer of Great Britain are tired of paying back the money they borrowed. Great Britain is not being paid, so why should it pay? The question goes without an answer. Why indeed, unless for honor's sake?Once Americans had a right to believe they could depend on the British not to leave them holding the debt bag. It was harder for the British to forsake their obligation than it was for the French, who defaulted long before parliament would have dared to consider such a thing openly. Great Britain's commercial tradition was not built on defaults, but on honorable dealing.Curiously, Great Britain admits cheerfully that its financial crisis has blown over. It is proud of a surplus of revenue over expenses in the year's operations.
Taxes are productive. The government seems to be on top of the situation, giving the lie to recent rumors of collapse. There will be a larger surplus next year if everything goes well. Then it will be possible to reduce taxes. The surplus from last year will be used to restore pay cuts.Nothing so jolly is in store for the United States.
It must go on paying interest on billions of dollars' worth of money borrowed from its people to provide funds for its harassed neighbors when their security was threatened. Its people have known for years that the loans their government made are not going to be repaid. Great Britain upheld its honor longer than the others, but its taxpayers, too, have grown weary of paying the fiddler. For what comfort there may be in it for him, the American taxpayer knows that he alone can be depended on to pay and pay and pay and pay. . . .

THE STARS SAY

For Thursday, April 19

A particularly active and interesting day, with much commotion and probable change of a surprising or abrupt nature, is forecast from the planetary configurations. Great projects and new enterprises are to be counted on, with the faculties and forces under the impetus of high initiative for brilliant success, but it would be well to sign all writings with especial caution, lest misrepresentation, fraud, or contem-tion creep in. Employers may also prove kindly.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for an important year, with advancement, new ventures and the co-operation of those of much initiative and enterprise. The faculties and forces will be found stimulated to great achievements and bold projects and adventures. But sign all papers with precaution and discretion.A child born on this day may be brave, adventurous, fond of change and large projects, having its faculties attuned to high pressure.

Notable nativity: Constance Talmadge, screen actress.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, April 18.—At least one old-timer, in the worst depression the theater has ever known, has wiggled to a safe life. Referring, of course, to the fairly sizable hit scored six weeks ago by Charles B.
Dillingham. Ill winds had almost blown the veteran down when the gale shifted.Not perhaps the smartest revue in town, it did, however, offer a distinct novelty in an array of absolutely new faces—the title was "New Faces"—and a potpourri of fresh ideas. Even hardened critics were unable to brush lightly over the loveliness of the gang of zealous youngsters, mostly from California.To watch a new generation of players exploring their heritage was a delicious treat in itself. The Manhattan stage has too long been surfeited with the same personalities doing the same thing. And that an old-timer should give them their chance speaks volumes for the gallantry of years.Dillingham's didoes also brought back to the legitimate the well-liked Elsie Janis. This time, not as the winsome hoyden, but as the director. So excellent was her job that cheerers, standing up, brought her from the wings, to take a sedate and middle-aged bow. She was once Dillingham's bright particular star.Within the year I have seen three men, all vigorous, who years ago were given up to die and whose doom was foretold in headlines. I refer to Frank Vanderlip, the octogenarian, Perry Belmont. I think it is, and Jack Norworth. Vanderlip has long been an idol of the newspaper fraternity. With the orthodox poor country boy start he rose to head one of New York's largest banks but still likes to be classed a newspaperman.Henry Bell came across an old Tony Pastor program which announces the opening of the bill with:
"The Great Zoro—ball juggling with bouncing and plate manipulations." A favorite of the better-skillet variety days was Tikko, who did a Japanese perch act and often opened the show at Hammerstein's. At the finish of his act when he slid down the pole he reached at the base for his chewing gum and then took his bow, chewing madly.I often wonder about people who go to the movies at 10 in the morning. In the larger temples along Broadway there are distinct audiences of this sort.
I joined one the other morning. Mostly men, middle-aged and older. Out of the parade, it struck me as their method of chasing the bluebird through branches of life. The George Arliss looking gentleman next to me, slight and with white vest edging, might have been a mining professor of the minut in the long ago. His derby was flat-topped and tie an Ascot, a type rarely seen these days unless one drops into a morning movie. I hear, although I saw none I recognized, that many actors, enjoying engagements, are also attendees, their only opportunity to indulge a sort of busman's holiday.But I have not as yet been able to arise in time or stay up late enough to join the Tenderloin gamblers, who, quitting their tables, have a snack around 8 a. m.
These unsmiling patrons are the grimmest in the land outside a penal institution. Win, lose or draw, the professional gambler never betrays his emotions.
They clip out their conversation in monosyllables, drinking cauldrons of hot coffee and puffing fiercely black cigars.Beefsteak Charlie's, about five pipe whiffs from Broadway, has since the days of Maud S. been the hangout for followers of the race track. Walls are lined with many Currier and Ives of past thoroughbreds. Horsemen in loud ties are always at the tables with their suspiciously golden ladies. Every unaccompanied gentleman is pouring over a dope sheet.
The only restaurant that hasn't changed since I came to New York. It and Luchow's.O. yes, among the bright sophisticates Dillingham recruited for his comeback revue was James Shelton, another Paducah, Ky. boy, who seems a budding Noel Coward. The words to one of his songs concern the champion gutter girl. She rests in gutters because she loves them. Beds simply do not appease her any more. She is out to meet all comers for a gutter resting record, tee la-tee-dum de de! But Walter Catlett, during the long run of "Sally," was first to make Broadway gutter conscious. In lifting his beaker of shandygaff, he would always cry: "Choose your gutter-ter!"

Underweight Persons Lack Reserve

I receive letters requesting advice about overweight. But I am sorry to say that requests for advice to gain weight are few and far between.

than on medical opinion.

It is true that the underweight adult is less susceptible to infections and constitutional diseases which afflict his more obese brother. But it is equally true that the markedly underweight individual is more liable to have many diseases. This is especially true in the case of young adults between the ages of 14 to 35.

Bear in mind that both the young child and adult need all the reserve vitality that a well nourished body supplies. This is necessary to meet all the demands made upon the body by normal growth and development.

How to Gain Weight

An individual who is exceedingly underweight is more susceptible to tuberculosis. This disease is all too common among children and young adults. It is likely to follow a general run-down condition and is more apt to occur among underweight individuals. In fact persistent underweight is a warning signal and should arouse suspicion.

But how can weight be gained? You can do this only by eating more food every day than your body requires for subsistence. The best way to do this is to add to your schedule one or two additional meals, which may take the form of a mid-morning or mid-afternoon "snack". Some claim this additional food interferes with their normal appetite. For such individuals, I would advise something nourishing before retiring.

In addition, I strongly recommend 10 to 12 hours of sleep every night. Whenever possible, a short nap of 15 minutes to a half hour should be taken in the afternoon. This rest will prevent you from feeling "tired in". Relax as much as possible.

Obtain your quota of fresh air and sunshine. Deep breathing is of great importance. Bear in mind, that food, rest, fresh air and sunshine, are essential to the gaining of weight.

If in spite of these simple rules, you fail to gain weight, it is wise to consult with your doctor. A complete physical examination will reveal whether your underweight is the result of some organic defect.

A simple tonic or change in habits may be sufficient to put you on the road to more weight and better health. Let your doctor advise you and prescribe for you. Do not be impatient but follow the rules outlined for you. Above all, do not neglect underweight.

Answers to Health Queries

K. B. Q.—Are pimples due to an acid condition?

A.—Not necessarily. Pimples usually indicate faulty diet and poor elimination. For full particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A Reader, Q.—What will improve the appearance and shape of the legs?

A.—Exercise will often bring about results. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no gripping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.

"THE LONE WOLF'S SON"

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

SYNOPSIS

Aboard the S.S. "Navarre," bound for New York, Michael Lanyard, reformed "Lone Wolf" and underworld celebrity, is re-encountered with his son whom he thought dead. The boy, "Maurice," has followed in the "Lone Wolf's" footsteps but Lanyard hopes his son's interest in crime is only a passing fancy. Mrs. Fay Crozier, who proves a good influence, Maurice steals Mrs. Crozier's emerald necklace. Lanyard retrieves them for Fay. Detective Crane warns Lanyard to watch out for the vengeance of "Jack Knife" Anderson and "English Archie," two gamblers whom Lanyard exposed for cheating Maurice. At cards, Maurice and the gangsters steal Mrs. Crozier's emerald and plant them in Lanyard's cabin. Maurice saves Lanyard by substituting imitations and secretly placing the emerald in the purser's care for the outstanding Lanyard's expense. Detective Pion is suspicious of him. Later, when one of "Jack Knife's" accomplices tries to intimidate Lanyard into stealing the emerald, Lanyard splits fifty-fifty with the gang. Maurice appears on the scene, masked. He knocks the gangster unconscious, planting a string of pearls stolen from the notorious gold-digger, Tess Boyce, in the thief's pocket. Tess, in gratitude to Lanyard for catching the thief, gives a dinner in his honor. Lanyard disapproves of the society of Tess Boyce for his son, but Tess asks him to leave Maurice to her. Discussing the boy robbery, Pion informs Lanyard that the prisoner was Lanyard and Maurice. Lanyard meets Tess and urges her courage in wearing her diamonds after last night's robbery, suggesting it might be safer to leave them with the purser. "Too much like me," Tess replies.

CHAPTER XXI

By broke off her statement to a denial to Maurice, who was going to ask her to dance. "No, no, no, no, I'd rather stay home and make up to your old man, and give it a whirl instead." "There's no accounting for tastes, is there?" The boy sketched an arch smile. "The loss, madame, is yours."

"Great kid," Tess Boyce drawled, watching him lead the other young woman away to the music, "and the dream of a dancer, if I'm any judge, look how hard he is on his feet. Funny thing about last night, he harked back: 'I wasn't really just doing; and all of a sudden I had a sort of feeling that somebody else in the room was looking at me. I mean, I glanced my eyes, and there he was, stooping over my dressing-table, where I'd left a lot of junk—too tired to put it away. I couldn't believe my eyes—I seemed so cheeky. I thought I must be dreaming. Only for a moment, though—only till he winked off the night-light. He winked, I'd waked up, I was sure I hadn't stirred, a light breathed hard or anything, but he didn't stop a moment—black that light out and sat on the lam. And then he winked."

"You were able to identify the man, then?"

The eyes that widened to Lanyard's were almost too guileless. "If they hadn't caught him with the goods on, I'd never've believed it was the same fellow."

"I see," he darkened the room too much.

"Not so quick that I didn't get a snapshot of a man a head taller."

"If they hadn't caught him with the goods on, I'd never've believed it was the same fellow," said Boyce.

anyway, than the yegg you and your son helped pinch. Putting out the night-light didn't make such a difference, you see—it was so dim and the moon so bright. I could see him like a silhouette, if you know what I mean, between me and the windows, as he dived for the door. I'd never have believed the gorilla they found my pearls on could have moved like that—silent as a shadow, sure-footed as a cat, and graceful! I couldn't think of a thing but a panther."

"Yes," Lanyard nodded, without flinching from the stare of those wonder-struck eyes. "Only a few minutes ago, oddly enough, M. Pion and I were speaking of the unreliability of eyewitnesses, how excitement invariably colors and distorts the evidence of our senses at critical moments."

got to remember my last husband by those pearls, and some fancy black-and-blue spots that are almost faded out already."

The thin asetic lips of Mr. Isquith, a taciturn third party to the talk, writhed in mild anguish; and the Boyce, marking this, gave way to gusty mirth.

Lanyard seized the first excuse he could, with good grace, to withdraw his person as well as his mind from the party. And as soon as he was out of sight, Isquith leaned his prim mouth to the Boyce's ears.

"Nice work, kid," he breathed, "very, very pretty! The way you got the wind up the old fox was a treat. Keep it up, now, that's a good girl; don't let him forget a minute he's sitting on a powder-barrel and monkeying with matches; play him off against the punk—and we've got 'em where we want 'em, him and his whelp, right in the hollows of our little hot hands."

Smart knuckles on his stateroom door hailed Lanyard back hours later, from the far horizon where waking consciousness dips under. Full-witted in a twinkling, he made a light, then sensibly demanded through the panels to know what was wanted. No name passed in response, but the nasal deliberation of the voice outside sounded authentic. With no more hesitation he drew the bolt. A grin of apology wreathed the pipe in Crane's teeth as he entered.

"Don't bawl me out for ruinin' your night's rest," he begged, and re-shot the bolt himself as Lanyard went back to bed. "I just figured I'd better give you this buzz before the tip-off, if any I may be wrong; but if I'm right, the less confabulation I and you do behind closed doors from now on, the better."

"Figure to yourself that I have every confidence in you. Make yourself at ease, my friend, and when the spirit moves you, more lucid."

"I only want to know what you know, if anything," Crane draped himself on the foot of the bed and tamped his pipe with a vague air which Lanyard took to screen keen observation. "About this kid of yours and the Boyce outfit. What's the idea of all this fuss they're makin' over him?"

"But you already know, I am sure, about the service Maurice did Madame—"

"Yeah, I heard about it. I'm just a back number, of course, and nobody ever tells me anything—"

"But you have been invisible all day—busy with your own affairs, presumably; one has had no chance for a chat, with you."

"O K. But it's hard to forget old habits. I can't seem to break myself of pickin' up pieces that people leave about, careless-like and flittin' them together. I've got a pretty good idea of what happened in here last night. Every time I think about it," Crane with iron gravity professed, "I bust right out laughin'."

"Laughing?"

"At the idea of a lad barely out of his teens tackling a tough egg like Eddie the Frog, knockin' him for a goal and fishin' a mess of stolen pearls out of his poke."

"To be accurate, it was that good Pion who found them—"

"It would have been," Crane with ambiguous readiness agreed. "He had to do something, naturally, to cop himself a piece of credit. These French dicks are the hottest ever, to hear them tell it—it wouldn't have looked right to let an amateur up and pry him right out of the picture."

"You do not like M. Pion, I take it?"

"I don't think as much of him as he does, that's a fact. And what he thinks of me is nobody's business."

"You are—if the question is not indiscreet—professionally at odds, then?"

"It isn't that, so much," Crane said with an utterly open face, "as that he'd thank me to tend to my own knittin'. The ruckus last night wouldn't have come off if he hadn't been up-stage with me. I tried to wise him that Jack-knife and English Archie probably had heelers planted somewhere on board, but he wouldn't listen. That sort of thing was likely enough, he admitted, on an American ship or maybe a British; but—dirty work on decks that were legally the same as the sacred soil of that dear France? Monshoo lee A-may-ray-caine was pleased to be comical."

CHURCH BENEFIT

The Dorcas society of the English Lutheran church sponsored a pretty appointed benefit party Tuesday evening at the church, in which nearly 100 persons participated.

Tables at which the guests were seated were enhanced with snapdragons and tapers of various pastel shades.

A play, "Farewell, Cruel World," given by members of the Salem Dramatic club, was a feature of a delightful program. In the cast were Misses Rena Kominisky and Esther Stewart and Lloyd Wyant.

Other numbers on the program were: Piano solo, Miss Hilda Franke; two accordion solos, Emil Rosetta; duet, Hawaiian and Spanish guitars, Misses Hazel and Martha Farmer, who also sang a duet and played their own accompaniment.

Vocal solo, Gail Greenisen, accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Celia Greenisen; violin solos, Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite, with Mrs. Ruth Berry at the piano; readings, Miss Betty Hinkle.

While the lunch was being served the Misses Farmer entertained with instrumental selections.

MRS. BROOMALL HOSTESS

A playlet, "Thanksgiving Ann," was included on the program at a meeting of the Mary Carr Curtis Girls society of the Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Broomall, Jennings ave.

In the cast were: Mrs. Henry Sherr, Mrs. Glenn Whinnery, Mrs. Kenneth Fuhs and Miss Lois Greenisen.

The altar lights service was in charge of Mrs. L. W. Matthews and the stewardship service was conducted by Mrs. Broomall.

Chapters from the study book on "Women of the East" were reviewed by Miss Greenisen and Mrs. Matthews. Miss Ruth Bates entertained with banjo and vocal selections.

Refreshments were served. The May meeting will be with Miss Margaret M. Kirkbride, North Elmworth ave.

COMMUNITY CLUB

Forty-six members of the Meadow Brook Community club attended a meeting of the club Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hollabaugh, Ellsworth rd.

Miss Clara Boyer, teacher of the Meadow Brook school, northwest of Salem, gave a talk in which she discussed some needed repairs at the schoolhouse.

The program of entertainment was comprised of recitations by Ruth Hollabaugh, Blaine Mather and Edith Sanders, and guessing games.

Miss Boyer and Mrs. L. S. Richards served refreshments.

A meeting on May 15 will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wolford, Goshen rd. The social committee for that session is composed of Henry Hollabaugh and Lawrence Sanders.

AT WOODWARD HOME

Mrs. W. C. Woodward was hostess at a social meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union Tuesday afternoon at her home Euclid st.

At this time plans were made to plant shrubbery and flowers at Centennial park.

This union will be represented at a county institute to be held Friday at Winona.

Plans were made for a young people's meeting which has as its objective the organization of a Young People's branch. The tentative date for this meeting is next Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. W. Kyrle, South Lundy ave.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting of the union will be on the first Tuesday in May, for on that a Mother's day program will be arranged.

ELKS AUXILIARY

When members of the Elks auxiliary met Tuesday evening at the home, East State st., plans were made to have a coverdish supper for the members and their husbands on May 2. After the meal there will be dancing and cards.

The bridge tournament was continued at this meeting. Lunch was served.

Mrs. Evelyn Jones, New York City, was a guest.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be on May 1. Thirty members attended last night's session.

JOLLY DOZEN MEET

Mrs. David McCloskey and Mrs. Albert Lodge won prizes in progressive euchre at a gathering of associates of the Jolly Dozen club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ida Alaback, North Rose ave.

Three tables were in play. Lunch was served.

The members will meet again in two weeks.

ELIZABETH FRY CLASS

When members of the Elizabeth Fry class of the First Friends church met Tuesday evening at the church, plans were made to have a Mother's day party on Tuesday evening, May 8, at the church. There will be a coverdish dinner.

ESTHER E. BARNS CIRCLE

Mrs. Harry Parsons will be in charge of the program at a meeting of the Esther E. Barnes circle of the First Friends church Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harrison Kuhns, East Third st.

BAPIST SOCIETY

The Women's Missionary society of the Baptist church will hold a meeting at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the church, instead of at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Glass, East Third st., as previously planned.

BENEFIT PARTY

Salem court, Catholic Daughters of America, will give a benefit card party at 2:15 p. m. Thursday at the Knights of Columbus hall, South Broadway. High score prizes are offered in bridge, "500" and euchre.

OSGOOD-FRANTZ

Miss Dorothy M. Osgood, East State st., became the bride of Paul B. Frantz, Fair ave., at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Osgood.

Rev. S. A. Mayer, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiated. Twelve guests witnessed the nuptials.

The attendants were Miss Isabelle M. Frantz, sister of the groom, and Clarence Wells, Youngstown, cousin of the bride.

The bride and Miss Frantz wore blue tulle gowns.

A wedding dinner at 6 was given by Mr. and Mrs. Orla Flick.

Mr. and Mrs. Frantz are at home to their friends at 273 Wood st., East Palestine, where the bridegroom is engaged in the dry cleaning business.

W. R. C. MEETS

Plans were made for a benefit card party on April 24 at a meeting of the Women's Relief corps Tuesday evening at the hall, East State st.

At this time the corps expressed plans were made for a benefit to make the 50th anniversary celebration a success.

The charter members, Mrs. Dora Bentley, president, and Mrs. Emma Zimmerman, treasurer, appreciating the work of the committee which arranged the event, presented it with a token to be used at the 100th anniversary observance.

After the business session Mrs. David Horner, patriotic instructor, held a memorial commemorating the birth of Gen. U. S. Grant.

GILBERT AUXILIARY

Mrs. S. A. Mayer gave an interesting talk about the American Indians at a meeting of the Anne B. Gilbert auxiliary of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. V. R. Martin, East State st.

Mrs. Thomas Jenkins was in charge, and Miss Ora Vincent had the worship service.

Mrs. G. W. Bunn presented a paper on "Chosen." Mrs. Lucy Williams sang a solo with Mrs. Marie Kennedy at the piano.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, Miss Esther Miller, Mrs. C. B. McQuillen, Miss Beale Godward and Mrs. J. S. Moyer.

P. H. C. MEETS

Three applications for membership were received at a meeting of Salem circle No. 4, Protected Home Circle, Tuesday evening at the hall, East State st.

The meeting was followed by a card party at which Mrs. Nora Burton and J. W. Hendricks won high score honors. Lunch was served.

There will be another card party in connection with a meeting in two weeks.

CARA NOME CLUB

Three tables were engaged at bridge at a meeting of the Cara Nome club Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Rose McLaughlin, West Second st.

Prizes offered were claimed by Mrs. Frank Schmidt and Miss Edith Hildeson. Lunch was a concluding pleasure.

In two weeks the members will meet with Miss Hildeson, Jennings ave.

QUOTA CLUB

The Quota club held a dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the American Legion home, East State st. The meal was served by the American Legion auxiliary. Spring flowers decorated the tables.

The quarterly report of the secretary was read and showed the club to be in good financial condition.

The next meeting will be in two weeks.

CLASS MEETS

Mrs. Emma Wilkinson reviewed a chapter from the book, "God in the House," at a meeting of the Young Women's Bible class of the Baptist church, taught by Mrs. C. L. Hart, Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Walter Berger, Cleveland st. Refreshments were served.

The class will hold another social meeting May 15.

FARR CLASS

A social period with games and lunch was enjoyed by members of the Farr class of the Christian church, taught by Miss Ethel Beardmore, in connection with a business meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. F. G. Ludington, West Seventh st. Mrs. G. F. Polen was associate hostess. The next meeting will be on May 15.

CLASS MEETS

Miss Mary Jane Sinsy was hostess to members of Mrs. A. C. Westphal's class of the Baptist church at a meeting Tuesday evening at her home, Cleveland st.

Plans were made for a Mother's Day banquet, which probably will be held in two weeks. The hostess served refreshments.

Juniors Triumph In Annual Salem High Inter-Class Contests

187,000 FANS WITNESS OPENING MAJOR LEAGUE FRAYS TUESDAY

SOPHS SECOND IN BATTLE FOR SCHOOL HONORS

Fair Marks Set Up by Local Thincads In First Meet of Season

Juniors gained championship honors in Salem High's annual inter-class track and field meet as they staged a sudden point-making spurt to outscore sophomores and seniors in contests held at Reilly athletic stadium Monday.

Fair marks were set up by Quaker performers in the majority of the 15 events but no outstanding talent upon which Coach Fred Cope can base hopes for another championship squad of thincads was uncovered. Not a school record was even threatened.

Seniors Come From Behind

Seniors led through almost the entire meet only to give up the lead to sophomores as only two more events were left to be run off. Then, as the second-year lads apparently were off to the championship, the juniors flashed out in front 11 points in both the broad jump and javelin throw and clinched the laurels with 12½ more points in the high jump.

Two sophomore athletes, Dick Eakin and Louis Catlos, gained honors as individual point-making stars. Eakin took first laurels with 22½ points while Catlos ranked a close second with 20½.

Lee Shaffer, a senior, was third with an even 20 counters.

Lisbon High athletes tutored by Phil Biele also competed in the meet but their appearance here was on a non-competitive basis and no record was kept of places or points attained by the county seat invaders.

Lisbon Boys Look Good

Blue and White thincads gave a good account of themselves, however, in practically all events in which they competed and it appears that Biele has a squad of cinderpath jump and weight performers that should go through an unusually successful season. Salem seemed assured of three fairly good high jumpers in Shaffer, Fryan and Alfred Rich who tied for first honors when they cleared 5 feet 5 in. Then Stanley Kamasky raced the half mile in 2 min. 25 sec. not good and not bad time, and may cut this down to 2:10 or thereabouts within the next month. Kamasky also won the mile in 4 min. 55 sec.

A brilliant feature of the half mile was the sensational sprint battle at the finish between Wilson, Lisbon distance star, and Salem's Ed Kamasky. Kamasky led until 40 yards from the tape by a big margin but Wilson finished in a rapid spurt to win by a nose.

Eddie Kamasky Shows Promise

Another member of the Kamasky family, Eddie, Stanley's brother, brought the few spectators to their feet with a sensational finish that brought him from a poor last to third in his heat. This had should be plenty tough to beat by the time he's a senior.

Eakin gave evidence of being a dependable prospect in several events as did young Catlos so, while Salem's chances for a successful team aren't overly bright this year, fans can look forward to fine squads in coming campaigns. Paul Layden cleared 10 ft. 10 in. to win the pole vault while something not at all expected was provided on lockers when "Bang" Rich leaped through the air 29 ft. for a nice mark in the broad jump.

COPE APPOINTED COACH OF TRACK

Stone Relinquishes Post At Salem High; Will Assist New Mentor

Announcement that he has relinquished his post as head track and field coach at Salem High was made Monday afternoon by Floyd W. Stone.

Stone has been replaced as track coach by Frederick Cope, High school faculty manager of athletics during football and basketball season.

While he has retired from the head coaching post, Stone announced that he will continue his affiliations with that sport and attempt to aid Cope in every manner possible.

AVERILL STARS AS TRIBE WINS

Indian Outfielder Socks Homer, Double; Hildy Winning Hurler

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, April 18.—With Earl Averill setting the pace with a home run and a double, the Indians opened the 1934 baseball season by defeating the St. Louis Browns, 3-2, before 21,539 fans here Monday.

The Tribe scored four of its runs at the expense of George Blaeholder in the first three innings and managed to stay in front, although Southpaw Lloyd Brown had to come to Oral Hildebrand's rescue when the tall Hooter tired in the seventh.

Hubbel also hurled a masterful game for the Giants who showed they were the same team of opportunists that won the world championship last year.

Washington's triumph came on an eleven-inning run off Henry Johnson after the Red Sox had overcome a five-run deficit to tie the score in the eighth. Manager Joe Cronin started the rally with a double that upset Johnson so he hit one batsman and walked another. Then Pinch Hitter Dave Harris hit a grounder which Buck Walters juggled long enough for Cronin to score.

The Athletics staged a similar rally to defeat the highly touted Yankees 6-5 in a mixed-up game that saw 18 passes given out. A run behind in the ninth, the A's rallied to win when Bing Miller patted a single single for the third hit of the inning.

With 21,600 fans looking on, Cleveland's Indians made eight hits good for a five to two victory over Rogers Hornsby's Browns as Earl Averill smacked in three rallies with a homer and a double. Mickey Cochrane and his Detroit Tigers showed a new brand of scrappiness as they converted six slappins as an 8 to 3 triumph over Chicago.

The St. Louis Cardinals, with Dizzy Dean holding forth on the mound, pounded out the day's high total of 13 hits and trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-1. Behind Dean's six-hit hurling, Ducky Medwick socked a homer and two singles and Pepper Martin hit a brace of doubles.

GIANTS DEFEAT PHILLIES; TRIBE TRIMS ST. LOUIS

Lon Warneke Hurls Great Ball, Allows One Hit In Cub Triumph

(By Associated Press)

Major league baseball clubs today settled down to the serious business of daily games, hopeful a glorious round of opening contests had set the key note for the entire season.

Encouraged by fine weather, fans poured through the turnstiles in greater numbers yesterday than in either of the past two seasons—although the aggregate attendance fell far short of the 1931 record turnout of 249,610. In all more than 187,000 attended the eight opening games.

Giants Triumph, 6-1
The world champion New York Giants attracted a crowd befitting their high station, about 37,000, and the faithful were rewarded by seeing Carl Hubbell last year's world series hero, pitch four-hit ball to beat the Phillies 6 to 1.

The rebuilt Red Sox were the leading attractions of the American League as they clashed with the champion Washington Senators. The crowd of 33,336 which filled Fenway park was one of the best record in Boston and it had plenty of thrills in an 11 inning struggle which Washington won 6 to 3.

Thousands of around 30,000 also appeared at Brooklyn, where the Dodgers inaugurated Casey Stengel's managerial reign by beating the Boston Braves, 8-7 and at Cincinnati, where the first view of the rebuilt Reds proved mostly to be a view of Lonnie Warneke, Chicago's stellar right-hander.

Warneke Fans 13
Pitching in mid-season form, Warneke missed a no-hit, no-run game by one throw as he blanked the Redlegs 4-0 and shifted 13 batters. Cincinnati didn't get a hit until after one was out in the ninth when Adam Conditosky connected for a single. Chuck Klein, imported from Philadelphia to aid the Cubs' slugging, celebrated his debut with a home run.

As Rice Scores First Cleveland Tally

Sam Rice, veteran outfielder, scores the first run of the season for the Cleveland Indians in the opening game with the St. Louis Browns in Cleveland. Rice is seen, at right, crossing the plate. Frankie Pytlak, Cleveland catcher, is seen in a desperate slide for first—but he is out.

Butch Confident He'll Trim Gilligan In Feature Battle Of Fistic Show Here Friday

Confidence itself, that's Mose Butch, Pittsburgh's dynamic bantam-weight sensation, who battles Jimmy Gilligan of Toronto in the feature 10-round argument of the all-star fight show here Friday night.

Mose Plenty Confident

For Mose, scoffing at Gilligan's "broken hand" alibi, isn't a bit bashful in looking over himself proudly and predicting that he'll trim the Ohio featherweight champion, thereby making it two wins in a row over the Buckeye State youngster. And Butch insists that on this occasion the victory won't be by decision but by a knockout.

Butch has every right to have confidence in his fistic ability. Anytime that holds victories over such ring stars as Panama Al Brown, at present the world bantam champ, Willie Davies and many others and who seems headed towards the top of his fight rank with meteoric speed can't be censured a bit for his apparent lack of seriousness over the coming argument.

Gilligan Won't Be Easy
But Butch isn't taking things as lightly as he lets on for, even though he refuses to admit it, his associates fear that young Gilligan may outpoint the clever, hard-punching Pittsburgher. The Torontoan gave him a great fight in a previous meeting at Pittsburgh and, broken hand or no broken hand, there was a wide difference of opinion as to who deserved the decision although the judges ruled in favor of Butch.

If there is a knockout in this match it's very likely that Butch will be the one to deliver the kayo wallop. For he has one of the fastest, deadliest rights in the fistic racket and it's too in time Gilligan has a great chance to gain the nod of judges if the battle goes the route but his lack of a solid wallop may prove a serious handicap to his hopes for victory.

Looks Like Good Bout
A word more about this argument: it seems that Matchmaker Don Dickey merits plenty of praise in his getting the best for Salem. Several cities have been anxious for the battle and it was only through Dickey's intimacy with the two fighters' managers and large guarantees that it was obtained for this city. There's about one chance in 500 that Promoter George Mossey will realize any profits from the show.

CARDINALS WIN OVER BUCS, 7-1

Jerome Dean Hurls Fire Ball, Allows For Six Hits

(By Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—The St. Louis Cardinals unleashed a sounding batting attack, drove to Pittsburgh Pirates 7 to 1 Monday.

The Cardinals' pitching hero, Dizzy Dean, played no small part in the Bird victory. He pitched the nine innings gave only six hits and seemed to grow stronger as play progressed.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR DEPOSIT
 OF PUBLIC MONIES

Sealed bids will be received by the Treasurer of the City of Salem,
 State of Ohio, at the office of said
 Treasurer until twelve o'clock noon
 April 26, 1934, from any bank in the City of Salem for the deposit of all public monies coming into the hands of the Treasurer of said City.

Each bid must contain the full name of every person or bank interested in the same and shall be accepted by a bond to the satisfaction of the Treasurer, or a certified check in the amount of one hundred dollars ($100.00) as a guarantee that if the bid is accepted, a contract will be entered into and a good and sufficient bond issued by a surety company authorized to do business in the State of Ohio, or good and sufficient surety will be furnished, or said monies will be secured as provided for in section 4295 of the General Code of Ohio within one week after notification of such acceptance, which security or bond shall be approved by the Board of Control and the City Treasurer.

Should any bid be rejected, such check will be forthwith returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted, such check will be returned upon the proper execution and security of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Treasurer of the City of Salem.
